

The Engendered Recession–Shecession

When the coronavirus hit, it wreaked havoc on the world's economies and the brunt of this fell upon many a nation's weakest stakeholders—women. From increased household responsibilities due to Work-From-Home for their male counterparts in many situations to job losses due to vulnerability of the sectors they dominate, 2020 effectively undid a major part of women's economic growth. Read on to learn more!